

Faith and healing after abuse.

Many survivors of intimate partner abuse identify their faith as a source of strength and comfort while healing from violence, while some say their faith beliefs made it more difficult to flee the abuse.

Strength. Courage. Support.
Belief. Community.

Faith leaders can help by talking about intimate partner abuse. How does your faith support survivors and hold abusers accountable? Consider difficult parts of your holy texts, especially verses that might seem to condone violence. How we understand and discuss these texts can create safety and healing in faith.

Please contact us for more information about how your faith community can get involved in the mission. And if you seek a faith community for fellowship, please contact us to request a referral. We are committed to supporting survivors in ways that honor their faith.
